

To compile: Put all files in same directory, open all files using preferred IDEA (I used IntelliJ IDEA CE), build and run.

No known bugs

Limitations: If any directory is accessed that does not contain the words index and html, it will throw 404 error, if any directory is accessed that has the words index and html (ie 52index.html, index9457.html) it will throw 301 error as it is assuming you may have made a mistake and are actually looking for index.html but does not redirect you to index.html, it just stays on the 301 error page. I tried to add a delay so that after 30 seconds it would redirect you to index.html but I ran out of time and couldn't make it work, would redirect you back to 301 page. The block of code responsible for this has been omitted due to not working.
